LibDib Acknowledged for Innovating the Wine Industry at the 2019 Best of Wine Country Award Gala

Start-up awarded the 'Rising Star Award for Celebrating Innovation' at the annual event

San Jose, CA, November 14, 2019--- LibDib™, the web-based wholesale alcohol distributor, today announced the company was awarded the “Rising Star Award for Innovation” at the 2019 Best of Wine Country Awards hosted by San Francisco Magazine and Silicon Valley Magazine. The winners were recognized for their excellence in the community by both the public and wine industry leaders. LibDib founder and CEO, Cheryl Durzy, accepted the award Tuesday evening at the annual gala in San Francisco.

“LibDib has demonstrated that they are the future not only of the wine industry, but the entire alcohol distribution industry,” said Alf Nucifora, Chairman for the Luxury Marketing Council of San Francisco. “We are thrilled to honor them with this award for their amazing innovation.”

At the Best of Wine Country Awards ceremony the company shared the evening with fellow award winner and LibDib customer, Napa Valley Distillery, who was awarded ‘Best Wine Country Distillery’ at the event. The winners will be featured in the December issue of both San Francisco and Silicon Valley Magazine.

“There is incredible innovation happening all around the wine and spirits industry,” said LibDib founder and CEO, Cheryl Durzy. “We are truly grateful to be given this honor. We share this award with the hundreds of wine and spirits Makers who are working with LibDib and forever evolving 3-tier distribution.”

The Best of Wine Country Awards benefited Kincade Fire Victims as well as the Napa Valley Farmworker Foundation. The Napa Valley Farmworker Foundation has reached over 18,000 vineyard workers and their families, and provided over 2,370 hours of education. Their steadfast commitment to the betterment of the farmworker community is driven by conviction to build and support a sustainable workforce and to the continued success of the Napa Valley wine industry.
